Casa Imports

Vito, John, and Philip came to America from Italy in the 1960s. Vito and John married Philip's two sisters and in 1975, began a small company, which has since grown to now service five states and over 3000 customers. Casa Imports is still a family owned and operated business with a close knit operation. They employ several members of all three families as well as many other employees who have become members of their extended family. They pride themselves on premier service to customers, going far beyond the normal mandates of other distributors.

They not only carry one of the largest varieties of imported Italian foods available, they also handle a complete line of other fine quality products such as deli meats, beverages, oils and vinegars, tomato products, a vast variety of cheeses, spices, flour and pasta just to name a few. They also carry a large selection of non-food items. The CORA name is a widely recognized label. Customers know when they see the CORA and CASA names, they have the finest products available. They are also a proud member of the Bellissimo family and carry many products holding the BELLISSIMO label.
